Jeff

I have attached three documents – the Judgement and Sentence sets out “additional conditions of sentence” (the last two pages of the document) which are the orders from the Court to Pillon to not continue his efforts and not to dispose of stuff. The Notice of Post Sentence Violation Hearing lists the things he did that violated those previous Court orders and finally the Order Modifying Sentence set forth the Court’s findings that he did in fact violate the previous orders and warns him not to do it again.

Perhaps each document could be attached to your report and referenced by title?

I am at my desk if you wish to discuss – 206 389-2098.

Hey, Scott. I’m just about done with the memo requesting the funds for the removal. Now I’m going through fixing details. In the sentences below, I’m trying to make the case that a time-critical removal is necessary because Mr. P doesn’t follow court orders. Is there a reference I can use (Court’s Decision: Washington v. Pillon 2018)? And what is the standard way legal citations are made in the reference section of documents?

During the 2018 site walk, EPA discovered that many of the containers observed in 2016 were missing. Although the property owner was ordered not to dispose of the chemicals by the State of Washington (reference?), the property owner told EPA that he dumped the vessels he believed to contain latex paint onto the ground surface on his property and mixed the released liquids with wood chips as an absorbent.
